11.15 – 12.30	Plenary 2: Leveraging digital tools to support good regulatory practices for advancing economic integration
Description	As the world becomes increasingly interconnected, harnessing digital tools has become indispensable for advancing economic integration and fostering growth. This second thematic plenary will delve into how ASEAN Member States and OECD member countries are embracing digital tools to strengthen their regulatory frameworks in support of economic integration. Topics to be explored in this plenary include the implementation of one-stop-shops or single windows to eliminate unnecessary paperwork and establish a streamlined interface between government and businesses. Discussions will cover how countries are digitalising their administrative processes to enhance competitiveness and efficiency in their economic landscape. Countries are also invited to discuss the potential digital divide in regulatory practices that may impact economic integration within the region, and how this theme aligns with their ambitions for the ASEAN Vision 2045 and their Post-2025 objectives.

13.45 – 15.00	Plenary 3: Advancing agile regulatory governance for the future
Description	A complex, poly-crisis global environment is forcing governments to rethink their regulatory approaches. In this context, regulatory experimentation can help promote adaptive learning, innovation, and better-informed regulatory policies and practices. This final thematic plenary will focus on sharing experiences and exploring new opportunities for ASEAN and OECD countries to advance regulatory experimentation. Topics in this session will include the use of regulatory experimentation to promote adaptive learning and the development of innovative, better-informed regulatory policies and practices, particularly through the adoption of emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence. This session will also explore the agile regulatory approaches and legal frameworks that countries are adopting to support innovation, economic development, e-government practices, and the implementation of data protection measures.
