*** A message on behalf of Ms. Anna Pietikäinen, Head of the Regulatory Policy Division:

Dear Mr Zahid,

I am honoured to invite you to speak at the OECD high-level Symposium "Simplifying for Success" on 17-18 November 2025 at the OECD Headquarters in Paris, France. Please find attached the invitation letter and the draft agenda.

We would be delighted to count on your intervention in Session 10: Lasting impact through effective burden reduction and simplification on November 18, 09:45- 11:00 (CET), which will explore innovative approaches to move from an administrative culture that views regulating as a default option to one focused on achieving better outcomes.

The event will be opened by OECD Secretary-General Mathias Cormann and provide a platform for Ministers, senior policy makers, and representatives from business, trade, and consumer protection organisations to explore current regulatory burden reduction and simplification initiatives, reflecting on past efforts, current challenges, and how to move forward effectively. It forms part of the OECD Simplifying for Success (S4S) initiative that supports government efforts to deliver simple, smart and streamlined regulations to help unlock prosperity for people and business.

We kindly ask you to confirm your availability and interest at your earliest convenience via symposiums4s@oecd.org. Our team remains at your full disposal for any questions and to ensure a swift follow up.

Best regards,

Anna Pietikäinen
